Boris Bergant, chef

heritage & chef

Grandfather Danilo Kosmačin bought the old Pr Tilh inn in Reteče near Škofja Loka in 1961 (the old inn operating since 1870), renamed it "Pri Danilu", and started a story underpinned by local cuisine. His daughter Vesna and her husband Dušan took it over and turned it into one of the best Slovenian restaurants. Their children Nina and Gašper have embarked on an idea to continue and expand the family tradition. Nowadays Danilo cuisine is empowered by new Chef Boris Bergant who has been using fresh local ingredients to enhance creativity and bring in new flavours.

next tradition

cousine

Loška mešta, Loška smojka and Loška medla are traditional local dishes prepared with a touch of modernism. Well-known recipes of our grandmothers are masterfully redesigned by the knowledge of chef Vesna Čarman. Nowadays our cuisine is firmly defined by the environment and seasonal, local ingredients.

experience

Danilo's menu is based on local ingredients and traditional recipes transformed with a touch of modernism. You can experience our philosophy through different degustation menus where we preserve the values of traditional local cuisine and local ingredients, delivering a promise that each plate swells with creativity and new flavours.
